

21 Trails..... running, walking, hiking 12 Miles.....
 quiet, peace, solitude 8,000 Specimens..... solace, beauty, inspiration

EXPLORING HOYT ARBORETUM

September through November
 The fall festival of colors - blazing gold, red, orange and yellow

December through March Color and texture at the Winter Garden (located at the north end of the Magnolia Trail)

April through May Heady scents of magnolias, dogwoods and cherries in bloom (Magnolia and Cherry Trails and around the Vietnam Veterans Memorial)

June through August Native wildflowers rioting in the meadows or shading themselves under towering fir trees
 (all over the Arboretum)

There's no single right way to tour the Hoyt Arboretum but here are some ideas about what to see while you're here.

