Uniform Bank

Cascade Pacific Council's uniform bank helps provide Scout uniforms for newly enrolled youth and adults with financial needs. The uniform bank is meant to supplement, not replace, any unit or district uniform bank you may already utilize. Items are free of charge for those that meet the financial requirement. The uniform bank does not sell or loan items. Recipients must be registered with Scouting America (formerly BSA) and Cascade Pacific Council.

Uniform Donations

The uniform bank relies on donations and has no funding. Do you have or know of any uniform items that someone has outgrown or no longer needs? Have you seen any at thrift stores or yard sales? Could you help by donating them to the uniform bank? This is a great way to recycle items rather than sticking them in the attic or donating them to a thrift store where they may not ever make their way back to useful life as a Scout uniform. Unlike in the past, Goodwill is no longer donating uniforms to the uniform bank. Please do not donate uniform items there or to other thrift stores. You can donate by placing items in the uniform bank donations box in the lobby of the council office (9700 SW Nimbus Ave., Beaverton, OR 97008). If this is not possible, please ask a Scout leader or your district professional to take the items to the council donation box or contact the uniform bank at the email above to make other arrangements. Without donations, the uniform bank will cease to exist.

Uniform Requests

There are no forms to fill out or documentation required. The honor system is used. Requests can be made by parents or pack/troop/crew leaders and are filled on a first-come, first-served basis and based on bank inventory. If available, the requested items are delivered to the council office several times per month for pick up there. Requests for uniform items or information can be submitted to the email above. The uniform bank accepts and prepares "experienced" uniforms for adoption by Scouts and Scouters throughout the Cascade Pacific Council.

What uniform do I request for my son or daughter?

See the uniform guides at the links below. A common mistake people make in Cub Scouts is ordering the wrong color uniform. Note that Lions (kindergartners) wear the T-shirt, grades 1-3 (Tiger, Wolf, Bear) wear blue shirts and grades 4-5 (Webelos) wear tan shirts. Check with your den or unit leader to determine which uniform items are needed (some may be provided by the unit).

Can I request a free used uniform every year?

The goal of the uniform bank is to help a Scout or Scouter get started at a low cost, and not to be the source of uniforms year after year. The bank is only able to offer one-time only assistance. A virtue of Scouting is paying your own way, and there are many fundraising options available to you to help you raise more than enough funds to cover your next uniform. This allows uniforms to be available for the next class of brand new Scouts that join and need assistance.
