

The Cascade Pacific Council is blessed with more camps and properties than most Scouting America councils across the country. We are also one of the only councils to own and manage our own horse education ranch. Your support helps us in many ways, but here are some of tangible things donors help us accomplish through a gift to Camp4All:

Camp Scholarships

Contributions to Camp4All provide essential scholarship funding, making camp accessible for hundreds of Scouts each year who might otherwise be unable to attend.

Camp Operations

Camp4All funds allow us to maintain year-round rangers at our camps to welcome guests, ensure the property is well cared for, and respond quickly to emergency situations.

Camp Staff

Your support makes it possible for us to hire skilled, trained, and certified camp directors and staff who deliver an unforgettable Scouting experience every summer. For many young people, working at camp is also their first job, teaching them responsibility and self-reliance.

Program Elements

Some of the most popular camp activities such as archery and shooting ranges, horseback riding, climbing towers, and mountain biking courses are also the most resource-intensive. Camp4All ensures these exciting programs are well-funded and supported with trained staff and dedicated volunteers.

Emergency Needs

From a downed tree on a camp building to bridge repairs, fire damage, or a washed-out culvert, Camp4All provides the financial flexibility to address unexpected needs swiftly without impacting other council operations.

Q: My unit hasn't participated in Camp4All before. What are the steps I should take for success?

A: Start by connecting with your District Executive or district Camp4All leader to set a fundraising goal and map out your campaign timeline. Schedule a presentation for a well-attended event like a Blue and Gold Banquet or Court of Honor. Use the resources on your unit's Camp4All dashboard to access donor lists, promotional materials, and your unit's donation page link.

Q: We already pay for pack or troop dues, why are you asking for additional money?

A: Dues cover your unit's activities and programs, but Camp4All supports council operations. Funds raised through Camp4All ensure that our camps stay safe and exciting, allow us to maintain a well-trained camp staff, and provide scholarships so that every Scout has the chance to experience camp.

Q: How does this campaign benefit my unit?

A: In addition to supporting essential programs and facilities that your Scouts benefit from directly, Camp4All offers incentives for units that reach or exceed their fundraising goals. See the Incentive Guide for more details.

Q: Our pack would rather just do a cake auction or write a check. Can we do that instead of asking others?

A: Camp4All is designed to be a community effort, where every family has a chance to support and strengthen the Scouting program that benefits their Scout. Inviting families, friends, and extended community members to participate helps everyone feel more connected to the positive impact of Scouting.

Q: When is the best time to do our unit's presentation?

A: The ideal time is at a well-attended event where families and Scouts are already gathered, such as a Blue and Gold Banquet for packs or a Court of Honor for troops. These settings provide a natural opportunity to talk about Camp4All and inspire support.

Q: I'm not comfortable asking others for $. What resources are there to help me?

A: Fundraising can feel daunting. To help, we provide talking points, stories, and a prepared PowerPoint that you can use during your presentation. Also, see the How to Host a Successful Presentation guide found in this packet. The focus is on showing the impact of Camp4All on our Scouts' experience, so sharing personal stories or examples is often the most effective strategy.

Q: What campaign materials are there to help us?

A: We offer a range of materials including a PowerPoint presentation, donation link, personalized pledge cards, promotional resources, and past donor lists. Your district team can also help you access any additional materials you may need.

Q: What is a reasonable goal for my unit and how do I set it?

A: Your district team can help you review past giving trends and membership size to set a realistic, achievable goal for your unit. Together, you can discuss strategies to reach this goal and make adjustments based on the level of participation from your families.

Q: How can I find out if a company matches donations to Scouting?

A: Many companies offer matching gift programs, which can double or even triple the impact of a donation. You can check with your employer's HR department or use the matching gift search tool on our website.

Q: Where can I go for additional help?

A: For more support, reach out to your district Camp4All team or District Executive. They're here to assist with questions, provide resources, and offer advice tailored to your unit's needs.
